Love Our Schools Day

Girl Scout Brianna Fornoff takes great pride in her school and often noticed low school spirit from her classmates. To enact change, Brianna jumped on the opportunity to engage the community and to beautify her high school campus by establishing “Love Our Schools” campus cleanup events at Wickenburg High School. Between two cleanup events, Brianna gathered over 100 volunteers including students and community members, who helped paint curbs, build desks, weed the landscape, pick up trash, pressure wash, and more. Brianna’s surveys with students after the project revealed that 70% of respondents noticed and appreciated the projects completed on campus and revealed that students gained a new perspective on school. Taking important lessons from her 12+ years as a Girl Scout, Brianna set out to leave her school looking better than when she found it, starting a continuing tradition of clean-up events that has expanded to other schools in the area and earning herself a Gold Award. Brianna is a graduate of Wickenburg High School and currently attends Massachusetts College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences.
