

Olivia Stone

Tranquil Trails Labyrinth

Recognizing the importance of spending time outdoors and its positive impact on mental well-being, Olivia's Gold Award project created a welcoming outdoor space in Flat Iron Park in Apache Junction known as Tranquil Trails Labyrinth. Olivia designed the space for individuals to engage in healing activities such as music, prayer, thought, exercise, and other healing activities. The Labyrinth is lined with positive painted rocks and encourages visitors to take a rock and leave a rock. Upon creating the Labyrinth, Olivia received thanks from parkgoers for creating the space and making the park even more beautiful. By creating the Labyrinth, Olivia wanted to help bring awareness to the effects of negative mental health and provide a support system for the community. A graduate of Desert Ridge High School, Olivia is going to college for deaf studies to become an American Sign Language interpreter, attending Phoenix College before transferring to University of Arizona.
