Sensory Boards

Having a personal understanding of sensory issues, Anna was motivated to create sensory boards for students at Chaparral High School. She collaborated with friends and family to design and donate the boards to the Learning Resource Center, providing students with a safe space and sensory outlets. The boards featured a variety of touch elements for different types of stimulation. To further spread awareness, she created a video and webpage that explained how to build sensory boards and the positive impact they have on students. Anna has been a Girl Scout for 13 years, where she has developed leadership and social skills by leading badge activities both at encampments and within her own troop. Anna is studying chemistry at Northern Arizona University, continuing to pursue her passion for science while making a positive impact in her community.
