

Camp Property FAQ'S

Does reserving the Learning Hall (Parsons) or Lodge (Northern Camps) include the commercial kitchen?

It does not, the commercial kitchen must be reserved separately.

At what age can a Girl Scout use the commercial kitchen?

Girls must be at least 13 years old with a food handler's card and adult supervision to work in the kitchen. However, they should not be applying any cooking practices involving knives and/or fire. Girls ages 14+ can work in the kitchen with a food handler's card and adult supervision. They are permitted to apply cooking practices involving knives and fire, as long as they have successfully completed Troop Camp Certification Level 2 (TCC2) training. All kitchen staff/volunteers are required to carry a current food handler's card.

What is your policy on changes and cancellations for reservations?

91+ days: Changes can be made without fees.

30-90 days: Changes can be made, but the previously paid deposit is nonrefundable.

29 days or less: Results in forfeiture of all payments made.

If I am making a reservation on behalf of an outside user group, are the prices listed online equivalent to what my organization will be charged?

No, most of the prices are doubled from what you see online for non-Girl Scout user groups. The Learning Hall at The Bob & Renee Parsons Leadership Center for Girls and Women at Camp South Mountain has its own rate of $600 a day, $200 a session.

How many people can our cabins hold?

- The Bob & Renee Parsons Leadership Center for Girls and Women at Camp South Mountain: 5 bunk beds, up to 10 people
- Camp Maripai: 5 people on average
- Shadow Rim Ranch: 5 people on average
- Camp Willow Springs: 8-10 people on average

I made a reservation for a single day (not overnight), why is my departure date the following day?

We use a hotel system for our reservations, marking every reservation as an overnight stay. This includes everything from cabins to single archery sessions. However, our staff knows your reservation is not an overnight stay.
