

Customer Experience: In-Person Delivery Order

Wonder what customers see when they get your invitation to purchase cookies?

1

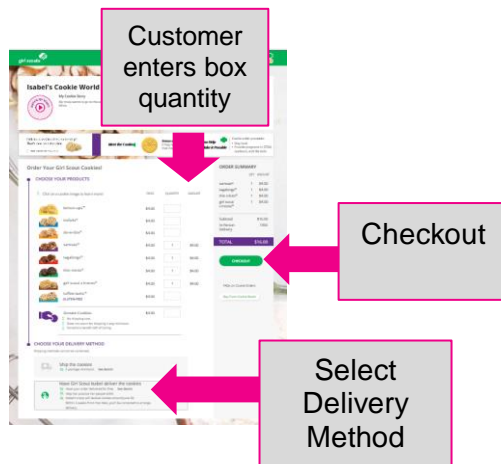

A customer receives a girl's email announcing that cookie season is open. The customer clicks the "Buy Cookies Online" link and is taken to the girl's Digital Cookie site.

2

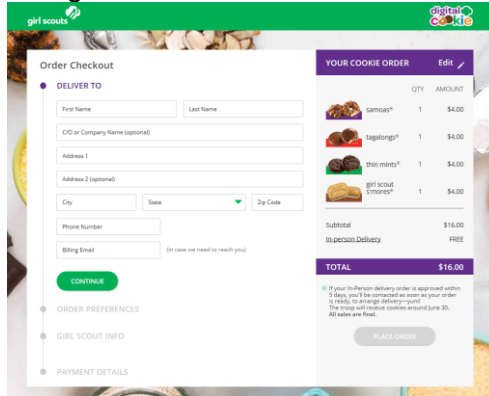

As the customer orders boxes, the total amount updates. Once the order is completed, the customer selects the delivery method. As the customer orders boxes, the total amount updates. Once the customer has selected the cookies she wants, she can click the "Have Girl Scout Deliver the Cookies in Person" option.

Once the customer is satisfied with her order, the customer simply clicks the "Checkout" button.

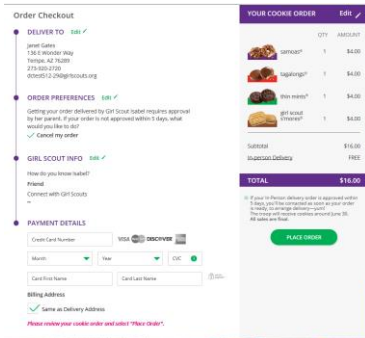

3

The customer is taken to a checkout screen to complete basic shipping and billing information.

The next screens ask customers to:

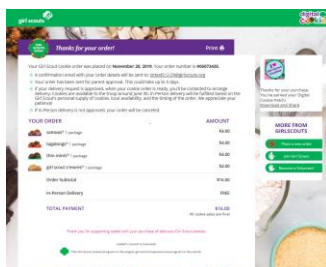

- Complete credit card information.
- Choose a second option if Girl Delivery is not approved.
- Tell how they know the Girl Scout.
- Share if they were Girl Scouts.
- Indicate if they want membership or volunteer information (optional)

Once the customer has completed the information, they click the “Place Order” button on the right side.

4

The customer then sees an order confirmation screen that includes the option of placing a new order in case they want to send some to a friend!

5

Customers will receive a series of emails about their order.

The first is an order confirmation letting them know that their order is pending approval from the parent.

Dear Suzie,

Thanks so much for supporting my cookie business by buying tasty Girl Scout Cookies! Your payment has been authorized. We are currently reviewing your in-person delivery request, and I'll let you know within 10 days if I can deliver your cookies. If I can't deliver them in person, I'll proceed with the secondary delivery option you've selected. If you have opted to cancel the order, no payments will be processed.

If you're craving more cookies and want them shipped directly to you, visit my Digital Cookie® site to place another order.
